

Student FAQs

I have suspended my studies for health reasons and now wish to return. How do I go about doing this?

If you have suspended your studies for health reasons, you must provide written confirmation from your GP or treating medical practitioner that you are fit to return to study. This should be sent to studentrecord@swansea.ac.uk

You will receive an email from Student Records near the date you are due to resume your course to ask you to provide this evidence. Once this has been provided, you will receive a further email from Student Records to let you know when you can enrol online. If you want to change the date you return to studies, or to extend your suspension, you should contact your College.

Further information on returning from suspension is available here: Suspension of Studies
